

KUBASONICS

Kubasonics are arguably Newfoundland's finest Ukrainian band. This award winning group combines top-flight musicianship spiced with quirky humour, a dizzying array of exotic traditional instruments, and an eclectic high-energy stage show. Their unique mile a minute speed-folk is balanced with haunting ancient melodies and heart-warming stories, offering a window into a rich and vibrant culture. With splashes of traditional Newfoundland tunes as part of their hybrid musical mix, a Kubasonics show is an experience not to be forgotten.

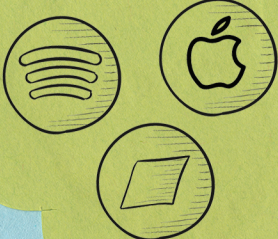

The Kubasonics are (L-R): Darren "Boobie" Browne (guitar), Matt Hender (bass), Brian Cherwick (vocals, accordion, assorted Ukrainian weirdness), Maria Cherwick (violin), Jacob Cherwick (drums)

"Kubasonics" was released in March 2022. Released against the backdrop of war, the album joyously confirms that Ukrainian culture is alive and evolving. Drawing from various Ukrainian music traditions, the band re-shapes each piece into a refreshingly new sonic experience. The result is a Zappa-esque blending of elements from a variety of musical genres. Three tracks feature collaborations with musicians from Ukraine and Trinidad. Produced by Romesh Thavanathan (Hey! Rosetta), the unique album artwork by Jud Haynes reflects the Eastern European tradition of "vytynanka" (paper cut art).
